The Convention resolved not to ballot for candidates until the platform was adopted

The Convention adjourned till 7½ P M

The Convention came together promptly at ½ o'clock, the attendance being greater than in the afternoon Every available inch of space was occupied—there being about 2 000 ladies present

Promptly at the hour Senator Schurz called the Convention to order saying the Committee on Resolutions would not be able to report the result of their labors to night in consequence of the large number of papers laid before them and suggested that the time be occupied in making speeches accompanying the nominations

A motion to adjourn till 9 o clock A M Friday was lost

Hudson of Indiana moved to suspend the rules and take up the tariff resolutions and act on them Finally the Convention was thrown into partial confusion by the vehement discussion of the question When the confusion subsided the motion to suspend the rules and admit the consideration of the tariff question was submitted and on the vote by States was adopted—470 to 229—two votes more than required to make a two-thirds majority

The Chair announced that a tariff resolution had been adopted by the Committee on Resolutions and suggested the propriety of delaying further action until the committee reported Owing to the overwhelming vote in the Convention suspending the rules indicating the unmistakeable sentiment of the majority in favor of the Greeley platform it is now believed—indeed one of the most prominent free traders on the Committee, says—that in the morning the resolution will be modified to meet the views of the majority of the Convention as expressed to night This vote it is claimed shows the strength of Greeley in the Convention the South voting solid for it New England and New York nearly so Ohio Indiana and Illinois about equally divided

THE CINCINNATI CONVENTION.—The Boston ... a paper independent in politics, sums up a long editorial on the Cincinnati Convention as follows

What help New York can bring to Cincinnati through the action of Mr Greeley and his ... will not place the convention upon any high level nor give its action any greater sway over the public mind It will still be nothing but a ... assemblage of discontented members of a dominant party at ... [illegible] ... spirits from a minority party ... these two parties without a single political tradition or affinity in common At the present moment there will indeed be fusion and the planet and satellite will become one The double convention will probably put forth one platform and one ticket the proceedings of the two halves and of the united whole will serve for a nine days' popular wonder and then party affairs will assume their usual train and the Presidential contest will be fought and decided with little reference to what was done or left undone at Cincinnati The Democrats will find their candidates when the time comes rub up their party shield and try their best to make it shine and the Republicans will fight it out on their present line with the Tribune to aid them, whether Greeley leads the column or not

The overland telegraph to Australia now extends 1,244 miles north from Melbourne and will be completed to the north coast in four months.

LAST NIGHT'S DISPATCHES.

[SPECIAL DISPATCHES TO THE OREGONIAN]

EASTERN STATES

CINCINNATI May —The Convention was called to order at 10½ A M

The reading of the Journal was dispensed with

The Chair stated that a statement in a morning paper pretending to give a dispatch from him to Gilmore that Schurz was a candidate was utterly untrue

Gilmore of Missouri offered a resolution that when the Convention reaches the point of balloting for candidates there shall be no formal presentation of candidates, but the Convention will proceed to vote

Dexter of Illinois, sustained the proposition He wanted to proceed to business and avoid personal eulogies The resolution was carried

First ballot—Adams 203 Trumbull 108 Davis, 92½ Greeley 147 Brown 98 Curtin 62 Chase 2½ Sumner 1

Before the vote was announced Gratz Brown by unanimous consent took the stand and thanked his friends for their support, but withdrew his name and asked his friends to support Greeley (Cheers, with many persistent hisses)

A number of delegates then changed their votes and the Chair announced the result of the ballot Adams 203 Trumbull 110 Davis 92½, Greeley, 147 Brown 95 Curtin, 62 Chase, 2½ Necessary to a choice 308

Vice President Julian took the chair

A resolution giving a vote to the Territories, was carried McClure withdrew the name of Curtin and asked leave for the Pennsylvania delegation to retire Granted

The Missouri delegation retired for consultation at the close of the call

On the second ballot the vote stood Greeley, 239 Adams 240 Trumbull, 148 Davis, 81 Brown 2, Chase 1 California changed her six votes from Davis to Greeley, which left Greeley 245 and Davis 75 Whole number of votes cast, 714 necessary to a choice, 358

Third ballot—Greeley, 258 Adams, 264, Trumbull 156 Davis 44 Brown 2

Fourth ballot—Adams 279, Greeley 208 Trumbull 94 Davis 30 Chase 24, Brown 2

On the sixth ballot Greeley was nominated for the Presidency

Horace White from the Committee on Platform reported resolutions unanimously adopted by the committee The resolutions declare the equality of all men before the law the union of the States and no reopening of questions settled by the Thirteenth Fourteenth and Fifteenth Amendments removal of disabilities incurred by the rebellion general amnesty and local self government supremacy of the civil over the military authority respect of habeas corpus return to methods of peace and maintenance of the Constitutional limitation of power civil service reform single term for the Presidency a system of Federal taxation not unnecessarily to interfere with the industry of the people; and as there are honest and irreconcilable differences of opinion as to the merits respectively of the systems of protection and free trade, that that question be remitted to the people in the Congressional districts wild cheering and that the decisions of Congress should be wholly free of Executive interference or dictation of maintenance of the public credit against repudiation in every form and speedy return to specie payment recognition of the services and sacrifices of soldiers and sailors, against further grants of lands to railroads or other corporations; in foreign relations it is the duty of the Government to cultivate friendship demanding nothing not right submitting to nothing wrong [A voice] 'Three cheers for the second Declaration of Independence.'

There were cries of "question," overwhelming the few who tried to get the floor to speak The Chair put the question and the report was adopted with loud and continued cheering

The Chair announced the vote unanimous

The next order of business was stated by the Chair to be the nomination of a candidate for the Vice Presidency without formal presentation of candidates

UTAH

SALT LAKE May 3—A call be published to-morrow from the Territorial Republican Committee on the election of delegates to the Convention at Corinne on the 16th instant to choose two delegates to the Philadelphia Convention

The election of Fitch and Fuller, under the auspices of the Mormon Church leaders, are not endorsed or recognized by Gentile Republicans

The news of Greeley's nomination created commotion in political circles The opinion is expressed that it gives the Democrats less strength against Grant than any other name before the Convention

Morrison, Attorney General addresses a circular to the County Court representing that under the decision in the Engbrecht case it is necessary to resume the duty of electing grand and petit jurors for the District Courts

CALIFORNIA

From San Francisco

SAN FRANCISCO May 3—Formal notice of the reopening of the port of Magdalena Lower California has been received by the Mexican Consul It will hereafter be a regular port of entry

The anniversary of the Cinco de Mayo or defeat of the French at Puebla, by Saragoza, in 1862, will be celebrated by salutes etc., by Mexican residents to morrow

H W Jones Corresponding Secretary of the Mechanics Institute is prepared to receive articles for exhibition at the New Zealand fair which will be transported free and admitted free of duty

Wind in the northwest

The nomination of Greeley produced much surprise and a marked sensation here The Bulletin says it is too soon to predict the full effect but thinks he will be acceptable to the Radicals of the North and Conservatives of the South, and with the ringing aggressive platform, prove a formidable opponent of the administration

The Post fully endorses the movement, which it considers merely an irrepressible protest of people against proscription against corruption expensive military establishment in time of peace, against party tyranny and in favor of a Government for the people by the people

The Examiner wants a straight out Democratic ticket and a square fight on old party issues with a Democratic candidate to lead the Government back to the ancient landmarks of Jefferson, Madison and Jackson

Sales in the regular Stock Board to day was 28 124 shares Sales in the open Board this forenoon were quite large Sales for the week show a falling off of about $2 600 000 in last week

SAN FRANCISCO May 3—The Montana for Panama took half a million of gold coin for Peru and a cargo for New York valued at $103 000

The examination of Brannan McKenna and Grace on charges of complicity in the attempt to burn Grace's house on Francisco street for the insurance forgery of naturalization papers &c., took place to day Brannan and McKenna were committed on the charge of conspiracy bail $3 000 each Grace was held for illegal registration of his name as a voter on the Great Register bail $2 000 It is said the numerous other charges will be brought against them before the grand jury

Among the achievements of the policy to day may be noted the arrest of eight sports for cruelty to animals in a cock fighting, and seventeen Chinamen for patronizing the game of Tan

A lively fight took place among brokers on Montgomery street this evening

The St Louis delegation submitted to day a counter proposition for building the Atlantic and Pacific railroad They propose that the single Company which has already built 400 miles of the line shall, with reasonable dispatch, construct the line from San Francisco to the Colorado river, and give to the parties taxed for interest on bonds of $100 in the stock of the Company, for every $100 paid in such taxes until the road reaches the Colorado river This road is to form a part of the Atlantic and Pacific Co's line, to be owned and operated as such and all reasonable guarantees given that it shall never pass out of the Company's hands, or become incorporated or merged in any way in any other In return, San Francisco is to give not less than $10 000 000 in 6 per cent bonds payable in 20 years and give the city in return dollar for dollar in stock of the Company The city is to give terminal grounds and facilities and receive in return stock for full value of the same San Francisco is to have representatives in the Board of Directors and all money or proceeds of bonds contributed to be expended within the State of California in the construction of the line The trouble here is that the citizens of San Francisco, fearing to be sold out hereafter will oppose any arrangement which will not secure them beyond doubt the control of this terminus, and unless St. Louis recedes in some manner, there is danger that the whole negotiations will fail for that reason The negotiations are still going on Neither party considers its proposal final

The grand jury this afternoon made a final report and were discharged. They make the usual recommendations for increased accommodations for some of the city officers and for the suppression of the manifestations of the social evil by the police

H Anthony, an expressman, ran down Mrs Barry, aged 75 years at the corner of Mission and Third streets this evening, severely injuring her and was arrested

SATURDAY MORNING MA[illegible]

Taking the Pledge

Intemperate [illegible] taking the pledge often [illegible] professions of reform and [illegible] lead virtuous lives [illegible] with such persons. Sometimes [illegible] former takes a new departure [illegible] distant locality and sets up [illegible] a brand new character. He advertises his virtues to the world and wants people to know that he is resolved [illegible] life. He publishes his intention [illegible] est, fair and courteous, to refrain from [illegible] speech and from all uncharitableness [illegible] to do his part to elevate the tone of his profession and of the society in which he moves.

Such an individual came among us a few months ago. His first act was to take the pledge. He published his good resolves to the community. He was a journalist and would do his part to dignify the profession. He would not be uncivil, discourteous, abusive or vituperative. He would maintain his opinions in a firm and dignified manner, yet with respectful toleration of political opponents. There was reasonable ground for suspicion that he protested too much. When a person publishes a series of resolutions for good conduct the act implies that he is a fit subject for reform. Why resolve to reform unless there is need to reform?

The Herald contains an article on the visit of Attorney General Williams to this State which fairly boils over with vituperation and rage. Wantonness of scurrility was never more conspicuously displayed. That paper is enraged because Judge Williams should come to his State to participate in a political canvass, though it has been usual for prominent members of all administrations for many years to do so. When the members of President Johnson's Cabinet and President Johnson himself, traversed the United States making speeches in the interest of the Democratic party did the Herald complain? Judge Williams is a citizen of Oregon, he has resided here for twenty years, and certainly has as much right to a voice in her political affairs as any newly imported stranger, even though such stranger should assume airs of importance and proclaim himself an oracle. Now listen what elegant epithets are applied to one of Oregon's most distinguished and honorable citizens: "Renegade, apostate," "political mendicant," "insolent intermeddler," "servile tool," "base and venal slave," "pensioned henchman," "pestiferous interloper," and much more of the same sort. These flowers of rhetoric, these pinks and garlands of courteous discussion are built on such groundwork as this: "Freemen of Oregon! send old Williams back to his Washington kennel, yelping keenly and sharply his agonizing yells. If such an insolent intermeddler coming from such a source, were to get his deserts he would get more kicks than caresses." From all of which it would seem that none except fresh "imports" from Pike county, Missouri, have any right to "intermeddle" in our politics.

We trust that our neighbor, after this ebullition of intemperance, will at once "take the pledge" again. Such inebriety of speech needs the strongest moral suasion to curb it. During this political canvass our neighbor will meet with many temptations, but let him resolve and re-resolve. We shall set him good examples, and speak a word of encouragement at [illegible]sonable opportunities.

An Organ's Nightmare.

To read the agonizing wails of the "organ" one might suppose that the country was to be despoiled and utterly ruined by railroads. In short, that railroads are at once a menace and a curse to Oregon, that the people don't want any more of them, and would be glad to be rid of the injury they suffer from those already built. All of the "organ's" editorials for the last six weeks have been directed to the one purpose of showing the antagonism that is assumed to exist between railroads on the one side and the people on the other. As Mr. Burnett argued in his speech here that labor and capital are in natural and deadly opposition, so the Herald spends all its space in arguing that a like antagonism exists between people and railroads. It assumes that a fierce fight is even now in progress between them in this State. Not that any wrong, or encroachment by the railroads on anybody's rights can be mentioned, but that frightful and unknown dangers impend, involving possible evils and imaginary oppressions. Evidently the "organ" would feel easier if there were no railroads in the State and no prospect of any. To circumscribe and limit as much as possible the evils and dangers resulting from railroads the "organ" clearly wants no more of them built, and hence it applauds Mr. Burnett in his opposition to all measures looking to further substantial aid and encouragement for their construction.

But there are many people even in the "organ's" own party who do not appreciate or sympathize with this opposition. They have no nightmare on the subject. They want railroads. Take the west side counties of the Wallamet valley. People throughout that section see what a railroad running through the east side counties has done for them. Land has doubled in value. Transportation is quick and reliable. The land-owners and inhabitants of Yamhill, Polk and Benton want a railroad through their section. They are not afraid of being injured by it. They do not share the "organ's" fear that a railroad will "enslave" them. The people of Eastern and Southern Oregon hold similar views. They do not agree with the "organ" that railroads are to be opposed as evils, or that a fierce fight should be made against those who build them. Though the "organ" has conjured up what it is pleased to call a "tremendous struggle" between people and railroads the people do not see it. Those who are building railroads in Oregon ask nothing of the people. They propose no measure that would wrong the people. Nothing whatever has been or can be specified by the "organ" in support of its assertions. It is simply harping and carping. After election it will be glad to quit a subject which it must despise itself for pursuing so persistently in the hope to gull somebody.

According to the San Francisco Chronicle the value of the Comstock mines has advanced $64,378,100 since the 1st January last. That paper says that Alvinza Hayward's profits are $25,000,000, William Sharon's $20,000,000, J. P. Jones, $10,000,000, C. A. Low's, $10,000,000, and many others from $500,000 to $2,000,000 apiece. These statements are probably too large, but it is certain that many prodigious fortunes have been made.

Unwise Action

In other parts of the State Republicans in nominating candidates for the Legislature have not raised any question as to United States Senator. Nominations have been made with reference to the fitness and strength of candidates and not with reference to a man's vote on the Senatorial question. In this county a [illegible] It is the height of folly to throw such a [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] very [illegible] rather [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] the party. [illegible] hardly think it will [illegible] able to quarrel for the possession of a thing they have [illegible] other counties Republican [illegible] this thing alone. Why [illegible] do it here.

The Cincinnati Nominee

[illegible]ley will have abundance of time after November to write a book telling "What I Know About Running for Office," but it is suggested that unless his disposition is changed he will never complete the work, as his ambition will be always prompting him to try such foolish experiment as that upon which he has just launched. Horace Greeley is a candidate for the Presidency. Jasper Johnson's work is done, and now he can say truly a last farewell to all my greatness. I went up like a rocket and came down like a stick.

It has been well understood that since Mr. Holladay has been in this State the Republican party [illegible] his co-operation. He has been identified with the party and has labored for its success. That the assistance he rendered in the last election was great every one admits. But it would seem that there are some persons here who desire that the party shall have his co-operation no longer. On Thursday night, as we learn from several sources it was asserted in a Republican Campaign Club here a much denunciation of Holladay, that he was a weight upon the party rather than a tower of strength to it. They who say this certainly do not let their own judgment speak. Two years ago the State, which was heavily Democratic, was almost redeemed mainly by Mr. Holladay's efforts. This is truth and justice which [illegible] require that the truth about this matter be spoken.

Horace Greeley has obtained the distinction he has longed for through his whole life. He has been nominated for President. It matters not that the nomination comes from an insignificant faction, an unauthorized nomination. The [illegible] at this moment is stronger than it will be a month hence and it will dwindle to nothing before November. The platform will consider it another time. [illegible] Democratic [illegible] up into the [illegible] Greeley. Horace Greeley, the Democratic candidate. Jasper has done it.

From all points where the candidates for Congress have spoken we hear favorable reports of Mr. Wilson's efforts. Among Democrats there is a general feeling of disappointment with Mr. Burnett. His abilities do not come up to general expectation. Mr. Slater is an abler and stronger man. This is the impression generally produced where the candidates have addressed the people.

Jasper Johnson is Vice President and Secretary of the Cincinnati Convention, member of the Committee on Organization, member of the Committee on Order of Business, member of the Committee on Platform, etc., etc. At this distance from home he looms up into a great man. Political mirage produces strange visional hallucinations.

Attorney General Williams is coming over land from California. He passed Yreka yesterday. Should he come here direct he would probably arrive on Monday. He may, however, stop at different points on the way. But of this we are not advised.

At least one hundred families in and about Walla Walla propose forthwith to move into Idaho and settle on the lands north of Lewiston.

The mining companies are beginning work in every direction around Idaho City, the weather having moderated so as to make water quite abundant.

The Nez Perce County Republican Convention met at Lewiston on the [illegible] ult and made the following nominations: For the Legislative Council, C. C. Collins; Assembly, J. F. Bush; Sheriff, D. B. Baldwin; County Auditor, Joseph Perrault; Treasurer, T. H. Worden; Assessor, F. B. King; Probate Judge, O. H. Adams; School Superintendent, L. Ankeny; Coroner, Oliver Island. The Nez Perce delegates were instructed to vote for John Clark for District Attorney.

Somewhat over a year ago E. Colmache, M. D., sent to the Museum of Practical Geology in London a fine collection of ores and other specimens, from Owyhee and other portions of Idaho Territory. Following is the acknowledgment: The Lords of the Committee of Privy Council on Education have on behalf of Her Majesty's Government to convey to Dr. Colmache their best acknowledgments for the under mentioned contributions to the Museum, viz: A collection of ores and other mineral specimens from Idaho.

On last Monday Mr. James Hanson, who is engaged in mining in El Dorado Gulch near Idaho City, went from the claim to shut off the water and in a steep gulch or ravine under the ditch started to prospect some ground when all at once without warning the whole hillside capped with a huge bank of snow caved and slid down the hill a distance of about 300 feet burying Hanson up and carrying him along with the sliding mass the entire distance. He was found some two or three hours afterward and although seriously injured it is thought he will recover. The sliding of the sand and snow over him down the steep ravine had torn off every stitch of his clothes and rasped the skin off of him as though he had been rubbed with sand paper.

We are informed that the treasures of Notre Dame in Paris, which already comprise a number of precious objects, are about to be increased by the addition of a veritable historical relic in the shape of a cassock worn by Monseigneur Darboy on the day of his death. It is a violet vestment, well worn, stained with blood and dirt, and showing distinctly the marks of bullets. The curious who visit the church of Notre Dame may now see the cassocks of the three Archbishops of Paris who died by assassination—of Monseigneur Affre, killed on the barricade of St. Antoine, of Monseigneur Sibour, killed in the church of St. Etienne du Mont, and of Monseigneur Darboy, killed in the prison of La Roquette.

Gardner City contains scarcely one hundred inhabitants—one mill and one store. The mill and store furnish employment for about twenty men exclusive of those engaged in furnishing logs. This mill cuts about twenty five thousand feet of lumber per day of twelve hours. The inhabitants here have just commenced the erection of a public hall, the lower story of which is designed for church, school and other public purposes. The upper story is to be the property of the Masonic fraternity.

Murder of an Indian

The Puget Sound Courier gives the following account of the murder of an Indian doctor near Olympia:

Tyee Mary died and [illegible] he failed to compensate, according to their customs, for her death, a near relation by the name of Kanaka Jack became her avenger. Meeting Teleph[illegible] some two weeks afterward in the woods when the doctor was in pursuit of horses, Kanaka Jack with his wife met him face to face. A report from the Indians says that Jack was averse to killing him, but was induced to do so by his wife and Kanaka Jack shot him in the temple with an old jager gun, making a hole, says an [illegible] witness, that you could nearly put your fist in. SATURDAY MORNING, MAY 4 1872

CITY.

FAIR WARNING.—The following very sensible warning, both to boys and parents, we clip from the Bulletin as it was only yesterday that we saw an example of the smartness alluded to. "We feel it to be our duty to call the special attention of parents to the fact that it is a common practice for boys by way of showing their smartness, to stand on the railroad track on Fourth street, until the train is within a few yards of them. What is still more dangerous, if possible, it is no uncommon circumstance for two or more boys to hold each other until the train is almost at them. If any of these boys in attempting to escape the danger, should slip and fall on the track, their death would be certain. It is all very well for them to boast of their smartness and to brag how near they can go within great danger and escape, but if any of them are caught on the cow catcher their smartness and boasting will come to a speedy end. If some of those boys are crushed to atoms some of these days as they are sure to be if they continue the practice, their parents and friends will know who is to blame." We fear that the above advice will never be duly heeded until a little experience is derived from some fatal casualty. Meantime boys continue to make the track a playground. Solomon says "spare the rod and spoil the child," but Portland boys don't believe in Solomon much.

LOCOMOTIVE "YAMHILL."—This new locomotive is now at the west side depot receiving some of the finishing touches. Her tender is also being [illegible]. The "Yamhill" is one of the best and [illegible] locomotives on the coast. She is [illegible] express reference to speed. Her [illegible] are five feet in diameter. In a few days she will be placed in complete running order and drawing the passenger train, where speed is more desirable than great power. There is no road on the coast better supplied with all the necessary rolling stock than the two lines of railroad traversing the State on each side of the river.

COSTLY PET.—A gentleman who is the owner of a fine specimen of "caninity," made the remark the other day, in our hearing, that it cost him something to keep a dog." He evidently referred to what the animal would eat and [illegible] license. But he had not viewed the other side of the subject. If it costs him to keep the dog, it would also cost the city something to kill the dog, as a bill was allowed at the last meeting of the Council for $80—wages simply to kill dogs. Would it not be more profitable for him to keep than to kill the dogs? Let some one expert at conundrums answer.

PASSENGERS BY AJAX.—The steamer Ajax which sailed for San Francisco last evening, took away the following passengers: E R James and wife, A Shields, H Sherbourne, Miss L Lage, S [illegible], R Wise, G H Greenaway, J M Cummings, John Dupelessee, C R James, B F Hawley, Rev R Robe, E R Woodhead, L Blum, T G Lee and wife, J W Mahoney, James Brown, Miss Walker, Mrs Cornelius Hill and daughter, Mrs R Prim, Wells, Fargo & Co's messenger, and 25 in steerage.

THE "PADDY."—The new steam "paddy" which was brought up some weeks ago to be used in the excavations along the west side road, will be put together in a few days and set to work. When in good running condition the machine will do the work of 120 men every day with ease. As soon as the machine is put together it will be necessary to place on the track two dumping trains. The present number of cars will be sufficient to keep the paddy at work half the time.

L STREET BRIDGE.—The ferryboat formerly used at Stark street, is now lying at the foot of [illegible] street, and is ready to carry passengers to and fro as soon as L street bridge is in a working condition. The change in the railroad track and of the trestle work has rendered it necessary to remove a portion of the bridge. It was expected that the upper ferry would have been ready to commence plying by the first of the month.

[illegible] Judge Upton is now at Oregon City holding a special term of the Circuit Court for [illegible] county. McCormick, the man charged with the murder of an Indian some time ago, was on trial yesterday. As to the verdict of the jury, if any has been rendered, we are not apprised. Joseph Engle, the man who shot James V. Boon, will be tried as soon as the McCormick case has been disposed of.

THE IDAHO.—This steamer will sail from San Francisco for Portland this morning instead of the John L Stephens, as before announced. The Idaho having been nearly rebuilt throughout will leave for this port on next Tuesday. As soon as the Idaho arrives here she will be placed on the Portland and Victoria line, in place of the [illegible], which will be laid up for repairs.

POLITICAL SPEAKING.—Geo H Durham, Esq, and E. B Bellinger, Esq., opposing candidates for the office of Prosecuting Attorney for the [illegible] Judicial District, will address the citizens of the District at the following places and times: [illegible], May 13th, St Helens, 16th inst, [illegible] Chapel, 15th inst., Hillsboro, 15th inst, [illegible] City, 22d inst.

RETURNED.—Colonel W W Chapman, who has been to Washington for six months past to secure Governmental aid in the construction of the Portland, Dalles and Salt Lake Railroad, returned to the city last evening on the Dalles boat. The Colonel brought with him the plans and specifications for the Willamette river bridge.

VANCOUVER PICNIC.—The pupils of the Methodist Sabbath School at Vancouver held a picnic on last Wednesday near that place on what is known as the "Old Harney Place." The day was bright and beautiful and the occasion was highly appreciated by both young and old.

TEMPLAR'S CONCERT.—The Good Templars of East Portland have been making extensive preparations to hold a concert some time during the present month. The time designated for giving the concert is the evening of the 13th inst. A musical treat may be anticipated.

THE TUNNEL.—That tunnel which is to extend from Couch's Lake to the river, and which has furnished the daily press so many paragraphs, has nearly reached the Lake. By this time the connection between the two bodies of water will be completed.

THE EXCURSION.—The train which is to convey the excursion will leave the west side depot at 8 o'clock A. M. Returning from Cornelius will reach the city about 6 P M. Should the weather prove propitious, a very pleasurable occasion is [illegible].

REAL ESTATE.—There is decided activity in real estate markets, as the daily record of the deeds will indicate. During the last two days the transfers have been made to the amount of $18,625, and deeds for the property re[illegible]

WELSH SERVICE.—Rev Daniel Jones will preach to-morrow morning and evening up stairs over McCormick's book store. Entrance on Stark street between Front and First streets [illegible] in the evening.

SUMMONED TO CALL.—Members of Multnomah Tribe No 3, I O of R M, and all brothers of the Order generally are requested to call at the Wigwam to-morrow between the hours of 2 and 4 o'clock P M.

THE NEW CARS.—Superintendent Lothey had three new platform cars just finished taken over to the west side yesterday. They were used to-day on the excursion train which goes to Cornelius.

PREACHING.—German Evangelical Lutheran [illegible] preaching every Sabbath morning and evening, at the Independent schoolhouse, corner of Sixth and Morrison streets by Rev H Gau.

MEETING OF STOCKHOLDERS.—The annual meeting of the Oregon Iron Company for the election of officers will be held at the office of Ladd & Tilton, on Wednesday 15th inst at 2 o'P M.

BOARD OF DELEGATES.—There will be a meeting of the Board of Delegates of the Portland [illegible] at the old Council Chamber this evening at 8 o'clock sharp.

WILLAMETTE SOCIETY.—The members of this society are requested to meet at their rooms this evening as a regular monthly meeting will be

We have heard of a couple in this city who recently celebrated the seventieth anniversary of their wedding day, which is called the "pearl wedding."

It is said that spinsters have a better chance of success against widows in the race for husbands than bachelors have against widowers in the race for wives.

The people of East Portland are congratulating themselves on an accession of two persons to the permanent population. It is said that two enterprising blacksmiths from Vancouver have opened a shop across the river.

The terms "bride" and "bridegroom" are derived from two Anglo Saxon words "bradam" and "gyman," and mean the cherished and the cherisher, bride being applied to the newly married wife and bridegroom to the newly married husband.

MEETING AT THE COURT HOUSE

Pursuant to a previous notice a number of our citizens met at the court house yesterday afternoon to make preliminary arrangements to receive Hon Geo H Williams, Attorney General of the United States, who is now on his way overland to this city, and is expected in a few days. The following proceedings were had:

On motion Hon J H Mitchell was chosen Chairman and Judge O N Denny Secretary.

On motion, a Committee of Arrangements was appointed by the Chairman consisting of the following gentlemen: H W Davis, C W Parish, Jacob Stitzel, Dan Rathburn, Dr W Bowlby, Jos Buchtel, H W Scott, Thos G Young and Philip Wasserman.

Upon motion, Hon J H Mitchell was added to the Committee of Arrangements, and to act as Chairman of said committee.

On motion, the meeting adjourned.

PITCHED OUT.—"Virtue has its own reward" and sometimes those who perpetrate fast and reckless driving about the city come suddenly to grief. A case of that kind occurred yesterday. One of the coach drivers connected with a hotel on Front street came tearing up First street. Coming to Morrison, he turned a little too suddenly up that street. The laws of motion desired that he should move forward in a direct line and the horse and vehicle were inclined to move on a curve. As the driver could not obey both impulses at the same time he went between and was picked up by some sympathising spectators, with a very badly bruised shoulder and the wind entirely churned out of him. He was removed to a drug store, proper restoratives applied, and at last accounts the young man was in a fair way to recover. Moral: Never drive faster than you can ride.

WALLA WALLA AND COLUMBIA RIVER RAILROAD.—We understand that Dr D S Baker, who is constructing the Walla Walla and Columbia River Railroad between Walla Walla and Wallula, has abandoned the original intention of building the road with the ordinary English rail. This change is owing to the recent material advance of iron and the consequent delay in shipping it by vessels, as T rails could be procured with much greater dispatch and are preferable in many respects. An order was telegraphed yesterday to the rolling mills at San Francisco for the necessary amount of iron of the new style tramway rail with the improved cap. Dr Baker is using every exertion in his power to carry the enterprise forward to completion. It is the intention to have the road in complete running condition by the 1st of next September.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.—Captain Friedman of the firm of Friedman & Co, has disposed of his entire interest and retired from the business. His successors are Messrs Dittenhoeffer & Lowenburg, whose advertisement can be seen in another column.

The California Saloon will reopen to-night. An extra lunch will be served.

TRACK LEVELED.—A portion of the West Side track opposite the Court House on Fourth street, was being raised and leveled yesterday.

HOUSEKEEPERS, ATTENTION.—Monnastes No 120 First street received by last steamer a large invoice of Crockery Glassware and other articles in his particular line, and proposes to sell the same to the public at prices that must satisfy everybody. To be convinced just call on him, examine his stock and buy, for you certainly will, as he offers goods at lowest rates and of the best quality.

THE UMATILLA HOUSE at The Dalles is now completed and furnished in every respect unsurpassed. The office is the most cheerful and pleasant in the State and the dining hall is unequaled. The rooms are all newly furnished. The house has twelve suites of rooms with stoves in them for families. The new house stands much higher than the old one. The ceilings are four feet higher, which adds greatly to the cheerfulness of the rooms. The table is kept in a style to correspond fully with the appointments.

CHANGED HIS BASE.—HENRY MARTIN, the Grocer, so long established in the Odd Fellows Building, Alder St, has transferred his stock to 131 First street, where he has a fresh new goods and will be happy to greet his old patrons and the general public. Martin is one of the men who knows how to make friends and keep them.

AT HOME.—Those who have had occasion to travel along Front street and there are few who have not, must have observed the extensive Clothing establishment of Jos Kohn & Co. There is no house north of California that can display to the public such an immense stock of Clothing as that of Jos Kohn & Co, 91 Front street. Any one visiting this firm will feel perfectly at home with the gentlemanly clerks attached to this house. To be satisfied try them.

THE CLOTHING TRADE.—First street is becoming a center for the transaction of no small business. Among the latest additions may be noted that of the firm of Fishel & Roberts, S W corner of First and Washington streets, who recently opened an extensive stock of ready made Clothing, and Gents Furnishing Goods. Gentlemen and youths will find an excellent assortment of Clothing in this line from which they can have made Suits [illegible] at prices that no person need complain of.

CAN'T BE OUTDONE.—Notwithstanding the many inducements offered by other Clothing houses in this city to please the public, the firm of J O'Neil & Co, of First [illegible]

Infection in the Air

At this season the vegetable world takes a new lease of life, but to the sensitive and delicate members of the human family it is a time of danger and of one of great suffering. The moisture which rises from the earth and hangs suspended over it in the form of morning and evening mists and fogs, holds in solution, so to speak, the morphic elements which produce fever and ague, remittent fevers, rheumatism and many painful nervous disturbances, by which aggravate dyspepsia, bilious and all other affections of the stomach and bowels. This is the time of all the year a season when the renovating, refreshing and purifying operation of the [illegible] vegetable tonics and alteratives, Hostetter's Stomach Bitters is salvation to the weak and a best security for the continuance of the health and vigor of the strong. Now is the time not only to protect the system against the common ailments of the season but to prevent the disorders incident to a warmer temperature. Let not the exhausting heats of the summer months find you unprepared to meet them. A course of Hostetter's Bitters [illegible] the physical [illegible] the [illegible] [illegible] portion of the human structure to be [illegible]

PLANTATION BITTERS!

S. T.—1860—X.

This wonderful vegetable restorative is the sheet anchor of the feeble and debilitated. As a tonic and cordial for the aged and languid it has no equal among stomachics. As a remedy for the nervous weakness to which women are especially subject, it is superseding every other stimulant. In all climates, tropical, temperate or frigid, it acts as a specific in every species of disorder which undermines the bodily strength and breaks down the animal spirits.

Beautiful Woman!

HAGAN'S MAGNOLIA BALM gives to the Complexion the Freshness of Youth

Hagan's Magnolia Balm overcomes the flushed appearance caused by heat, fatigue and excitement. Magnolia Balm is used by all fashionable ladies in New York, London and Paris. It costs only 75 cents per Bottle, and is sold by all Druggists and Perfumers. ap20d1y

Lydia

She is not dead No no it cannot be
It seems but yesterday I saw her here
Bright with the glow of youth she seemed to me
A being destined for a long career

She is not dead Her dark and lustrous eyes
I see them burning with a soul lit fire
Her brow, serene and pure as summer skies
Inspiring love which is not all desire

I see her form it is of matchless grace
More perfect far than sculptor's art has wrought
A light there dwells within her sweet young face
Which shadows forth a mind of rarest thought

Oh say, can she be dead? Have charms thus dear
So soon grown cold and lost their fresh young bloom
Can it be true? How dismal sad and drear
To know she moulders in an earthy tomb?

Yes, she is gone! She sleeps her last long sleep
And all her grace and influence 'round us still Shall fragrant linger while our memories keep
Sweet recollections of the genial dead

MISS HIGGINS' MAN

For thirty years Miss Higgins had looked under her bed every night, and had never found a man there yet, still she looked. Whether it was fear that impelled that deathless research, or fatality that was beckoning her to her fate, I knew not. It would seem, however, to be the former, for she had often been heard to observe, "That of all the abominations on earth, a man is the most abominable."

[illegible] at the informal tea-drinkings of the allied forces of Chesterville, the three Misses Wh[illegible] and the two Misses Jones, she had often excelled them all in the withering tone with which she would repeat: "Man! man!" and no one could [illegible] the greater defiance at this foe than she. It was at one of these tea parties that they had entered into a solemn compact that, in the event of Woman's Rights giving [illegible] of the allies sovereign power over the nation, an Eastern law was to be by them imported and improved, and husbands buried with the dead bodies of their wives.

As Eunice Higgins well remarked, "That would put an end to widowers pretty lively." And with this remark the Hyson flowed, and the [illegible] went on—with such spirit, that Aurelia Wilder, the most radical, added another clause "That the children of widowers should be thrown in too, and not be a botherin' other women." This was also well received.

Now if any one thinks Miss Eunice Higgins was a woman devoid of virtues and womanly [illegible] I pity them—they are so utterly mistaken. She had assisted a drunken father through the world, till he had made his exit—sustained and supported a feeble mother—and three or four children older but more helpless than she, till the mother went home to her reward, and the children had found [illegible] homes for themselves, with the exception of the eldest son, who had followed his father's footsteps, literally. Indeed, when one contemplates the specimens of manhood she be[illegible] most familiar with, her aversion to the sex does not seem so wonderful. She was now shrewd-eyed, but good and kindly looking. No home was brighter than hers. No farm better managed.

The night on which commences my humble history, Miss Higgins went to her room in unusual good humor. She had had a tea-party. The allies had all been present, and admitted unanimously that such snowy biscuits and honey, such golden butter, such cakes and sweetmeats had not been partaken of that season. The scene of her benign victory rose before her as she took off her little switch of hair at the backside of her head, and pensively rolled it up ere she put it in the top bureau drawer.

She saw again the sinking sun shining in through her house plants in the window, upon the crimson drugget of the dining-room, the [illegible] tea table with its silver and sprigged china, the admiring faces of her friends as they partook of her delicious food. But one memory disquieted her. "She almost mistrusted her lemon extract was losing its strength, the frosting on the fruit cake didn't seem to be flavored quite enough." But this [illegible] conviction was softened by the [illegible] that "she could get a new bottle tomorrow."

By this time she was arrayed in her long white night [illegible] and night cap. She folded up every article of clothing, and laid it down at right angles; she locked up her breast-pin, and [illegible] by fate, she calmly advanced to the side of the bed, and raised the [illegible] gave one shriek, and fell [illegible] on the carpet, hitting her head badly as she did so on a [illegible] rocker. There was her man under her bed!

Miss Higgins had often fancied how she [illegible] such a robber, such a burglar, with her fearless and searching glances; how she would defend her property with her life. Let us not be too hard with her—she is not the only one of us who has found that it is more easy to d[illegible] of great achievements than to accomplish them. She is not the only one who, at the first shock, has shrieked and tumbled down before adverse fate.

But Eunice Higgins was not one to wither [illegible]. Not long did she lie [illegible]; but as short a time as it was, when she lifted her head her man confronted her. He was a very little man, indeed, not more than [illegible] old, and small at that; very good looking, and well clothed, although exceedingly [illegible] and uncomfortable in appearance.

"How are you here, under my bed?"

This was the first question, but it was repeated [illegible] he answered, with drooping head [illegible]:

"I've runned away."

"Run away from where?"

"[illegible] our folk's house."

"Who is your folks?"

"Father."

Here the dialogue terminated suddenly, Eunice Higgins becoming suddenly conscious that a night gown and night cap were not the [illegible] in which to entertain even so [illegible]. Out in the pleasant sitting-room, [illegible] the warm light of kerosene gleaming through the rose geraniums, and the [illegible] light of Eunice Higgins' eyes, the inquiry was continued. From which they [illegible]: that the boy, Johnny D[illegible] so tried with his father, because he [illegible] wouldn't let him go to a circus, that he had run [illegible].

It was [illegible] in the morning, he said, and he had got a ride with a teamster, and had [illegible] with him till afternoon, so he must have come a [illegible]. After the teamster stopped he had [illegible] on, and, coming to her door in the twilight, he thought he would ask for some supper; but there was no one in, Miss Higgins had gone a "piece" with her visitors. But the tea table stood there, laden with good things; he had helped himself generously, and then, as he heard her suddenly outside, guilt, which makes cowards of us all, drove him into the bed room, and as the [illegible] and nearer, under the bed. [illegible] of fatigue had overpowered him, and he had fallen asleep, and was awakened only by her [illegible] as she discovered him.

Miss Higgins had found the man she had been a looking for thirty years, but now the [illegible] what was she to do with him? As he had no designs upon her property or her life, she could not lecture him therefor. And as his courage arose, he displayed a pretty—a very pretty—face, surmounted by a [illegible] of bright curls, in which shone two hen's feathers. Miss Higgins was very neat, but where is the feather bed that will not occasionally shed a few feathers, dry tears haply falling over memories of former fights?

Miss Higgins' good sense backed by her good heart, taught her that what her man needed now was a good supper and a bed. But in the morning the question again vexed her. What was she to do with her man—should she advertise him? Again she questioned him in the sunlighted dining-room as he ate his excellent breakfast.

"Whereabouts do your folks live—in what place?"

He looked up mildly at her, with a large piece of peach pie midway between his plate and his mouth, and answered obediently

"Our folk's house."

"Who is your folks?"

"Father."

The allies were called in, the stiffly starched inquest sat on Miss Higgins' man. The addition [illegible] of their over-questioning being that there was every evidence that the father of Miss Higgins' man belonged to that corrupt and shameful sect—widowers!

Miss W[illegible] trembled.

"Had she not better dispose of her man at once? Was it not in a way encouraging widowers in their nefarious doings, to harbor these small men?"

She asked these questions with some relenting of heart, for already had the childish charms of her man won upon her, and it was with great relief that she heard the decision of Aurelia, the most radical of her allies.

"No keep him here. Such a chance was seldom vouchsafed to the allies to teach one of these men—widowers—a lesson that they would not soon forget. Punish that wretch, that unnatural widower, by saying nothing about the child. Let him think he is lost, let him hunt him up the best way he can."

The youngest Miss Jones—she was only forty and naturally timid and apprehensive—suggested that it would be just like one of these men to come right here to Miss Higgins after him. There wasn't anything that they hadn't the face to do. It would be just like one of them to walk into her sitting room.

Here Miss Higgins remarked with spirit: She would like to see him walk into her house. He wouldn't stir a step beyond the hall, and as for that stair carpet she was going to take it up and cleanse it anyway.

This remark, which was warmly applauded, terminated the conference.

Johnny did not seem averse to the arrangement. He was at the age when bodily comfort overshadows the mental. He appeared to have a great deal of affection for his father but there was a Bridget, at the very mention of whose name he almost gnashed his teeth. "She was awful—she had shaken him, pinched him, pulled his hair."

Eunice Higgins' warm heart almost melted within her at the recital of his sufferings.

A week passed away, and daily had Miss Higgins' man gained upon her affections. She was the youngest child of her parents, and had never known the delight of childish society. She had dwelt so long alone, that to have that bright, manly little face opposite hers at the breakfast table, looking out of the window, hailing her return from her short absence, his merry, innocent prattle and ringing laugh was all the more agreeable to her than she would be willing to acknowledge.

She grew lenient to the boyish nerve of her man, for the best of boys have unregulated moments, looked benignantly upon him as he capered in the garden paths in startling proximity to her marrowsfats and cluster cucumbers. She ravelled out a long stocking, and out of one of her second best Morocco shoes made a ball for him, and when he lost it in her best meadow she herself boldly breasted the clover waves, side by side with him, in pursuit of it.

So that beautiful week passed away, and one morning Eunice Higgins was called from her snowy dairy room by a ring at her front door.

Opening it, she confronted a pleasant looking man of about her own age. Woman's unerring intuition said to her, "this is he." Here was the opportunity to wither him with her glances. But how could she when he looked so much like Johnny, just such a pleasant, manly look to his face? Eunice did not wither him.

"I have been informed, Madam, that there has been a boy, a runaway boy here—is it so?"

Instead of the prussic acid and vinegar that she had designed to have in her tone, the likeness to her man, so softened her voice that it was only pleasantly acidulous like a ripe lemon, as she replied. "Yes, sir, it is."

"Is he here now?"

"Yes sir, he is."

His anxious eyes so brightened at this, that she entirely forgot her carpets and her enmity, and actually invited him in.

No sooner was he seated than Johnny ran in with eager eyes.

"Father! father!"

He threw his arms around his father's neck and kissed his bearded lips, and then, in his delight, he turned and threw his arms around Eunice Higgins' neck and kissed her with the same pair of lips, and still Miss Higgins could say, in the dying words of the great statesman

"I still live!"

Mr Dale was a man of means and leisure. He thought the air of the little town exceedingly good. He obtained board for the Summer, for himself and son, at the little hotel. But in all Chesterville no air was so pure and salubrious, he thought, as the air of Miss Eunice Higgins' parlor, consequently he sought that healthful retreat often, Johnny going before like an olive branch.

Day after day did Mr Dale tread over the immaculate purity of her carpets, and they were not taken up and "cleansed." Hour after hour did he sit upon her parlor sofa, and it was not purified with soapsuds or benzine.

And at last, one peaceful twilight, it was on the fourteenth day of September, at the close of a long conversation—both of the parties being, at the same time, of sound mind—Johnny's father kissed Miss Higgins upon her cheek.

When I say that she did not immediately burn out the spot with lunar caustic, you may be prepared for the result.

The next week Eunice Dale, late Higgins, was ignominiously expelled from the allied forces of Chesterville, her name washed out in hot streams of Hyson, and still more burning indignations. But Eunice made a happy home for her man and his father, and rejoicing in their content and her own, she cared not for the "allied" proceedings. And thus endeth the story of Miss Higgins' Man.

An inventive Kalamazoologist has succeeded in bringing out an eight-legged steam walking machine. If he puts a whisky drinking attachment to it the passive Democracy say they will nominate it for the Presidency.

REPUBLICAN PLATFORM

RESOLUTIONS ADOPTED BY THE STATE REPUBLICAN CONVENTION AT PORTLAND MARCH 20, 1872.

The Union Republican party of Oregon in Convention makes [illegible] the following platform:

1 To the Constitution of the United States and all its amendments we pledge our fidelity, [illegible] full and legal [illegible] support.

2 The [illegible] success of the present National Administration in reducing the public debt [illegible] and [illegible] taxation administering every branch of public affairs with economy and efficiency [illegible] the [illegible] protecting the [illegible] paternal care [illegible] relations [illegible] friendly relations with Foreign Powers has been such as to command the approbation of the great majority of the American people [illegible] the confidence and commendation [illegible]

3 We regard the payment of our national debt in full compliance with all legal obligations all over [illegible] and in a [illegible] the faith of the [illegible] but that we may [illegible] the public debt as affirmed by the Democratic party and [illegible] justice in [illegible]

4 We admit [illegible] whether [illegible] the granting of full amnesty to the people of the States lately in rebellion and we [illegible] the full and effectual protection of our [illegible] to unfairly [illegible]

5 We favor the [illegible] General Government of the United States should hold that such disposition should be made of the public lands as shall secure the same to actual settlers only in quantities not exceeding 160 acres

6 That while we are in favor of raising our revenue for the support of the General Government by duties upon imports sound policy requires such adjustment of those duties on imports as to encourage the development of the industrial interest of the whole country and we recommend that policy of national exchange which secures to the working men liberal wages to agriculture remunerative prices to mechanics and manufacturers an adequate reward for their skill labor and enterprise and to the Nation commercial prosperity and independence

7 We believe that popular education is the only true basis and hope of a free government and shall ever oppose any diversion of or interference with the common school funds or lands in this State for any other than their legitimate purpose and we condemn the act of favoritism by the last Legislature whereby two hundred thousand dollars taken from the school fund were granted [illegible] all the existing [illegible] Democratic [illegible] party [illegible] the construction of a [illegible] five thousand [illegible] and [illegible] in favor of the passage by the Legislature [illegible] union school [illegible]

11 That the Republican party of Oregon is in favor of obtaining assistance from the General Government for the construction of a wagon road from the [illegible] to [illegible] the Dalles regarding this as a most important and necessary improvement for the State

14 We affirm that the continuance in power of the Republican party is the only sure preservation of national peace and prosperity and for reasons therefor we point to its brilliant record in the late civil war to a complete nationality to a united sisterhood of thirty seven States to our Territories rapidly warming into State life to a nation freed from the taint of human slavery to an created and enlarged citizenship to our national standing at home and abroad to the work of vigorous reform in all discovered abuses of authority or trust, to an unequaled foreign credit to a successful and solid financial system and to the unparalleled peace and prosperity everywhere in our broad domain and these are our pledges for the future

15 We hail the New Departure of the late Democratic party taken by the action of their conventions in seven States as an affirmation of the principles for which the Republican party has contended for the last ten years and in the Passive Policy of that party already assumed in several of the States we recognize an acknowledgment of their hopelessness of success in the coming Presidential campaign
